- IDDI partners with Medsource

IDDI, a eClinical and Biostatistical service provider since 1991, based in Belgium with offices in Cambridge, MA and Houston, TX, US offering trial design, randomization, data management including EDC and Biostatistical services has teamed with Medsource, another niche Clinical Research Organization on two oncology studies.

Medsource headquartered in Houston, TX, focuses on providing high quality clinical monitoring, regulatory and management of complex clinical trials with an expertise in oncology.

The combination of these two niche providers offers clients not only a full-suite of services but exceptional value and high quality services within their respective expertise. This gives sponsors of oncology trials the opportunity to select proven experts that have worked together.
